

Double Helix Water Live Blood Analysis

3 Month Test

These images were sent in to us by a practitioner from Naples Florida. The images below compare a diabetic subject's live blood tests before drinking Double Helix Water and their progress after being on Double Helix Water for a 3 month period continuously.

BEFORE DRINKING DHW

3 MONTHS AFTER
DAILY USE OF DHW

The before picture (on the left) shows irregularly shaped red blood cells that are 'stacked' together like coins; a medical condition referred to as Rouleaux. The primary job of red blood cells is to transport oxygen throughout the body. Rouleaux affects proper oxygenation because the red blood cells do not circulate well enough to deliver oxygen where it is needed. This condition also favors the growth of unhealthy organisms and can result in illness and disease.

The after picture (on the right) was taken 3 months after drinking 3 drops of Double Helix Water diluted in Distilled water twice daily. As you can see the changes are dramatic. The red blood cells look much healthier. They are now full, round, uniform, and no longer 'stacked' together; the red blood cells are now able to move freely and transport oxygen throughout the body properly.
